DUBLIN.

At a Board of Aldermen held at the Tholsel of the City of Dublin the 29th of September 1713.

The humble Memorial of nineteen of the four and twenty Aldermen of the City of Dublin to the Lord-Mayor.

WHEN we last met here your Lordship was pleased to Nominate Alderman Constantine, Alderman Mason, and Alderman French, to be put in Election for the Mayoralty; your Lordship would not then permit us to proceed to an Election, by insisting, that we should choose only one of your then three Nominee-Aldermen, and thought fit to refuse putting the Question on Alderman Walton's Objection against Alderman Constantine's being put in Election for the Mayoralty, he having for almost two Years together refused attending the Duty of his Place; since which time Her Majesty's gracious Proposal to Accomodate our Differences is come into this Kingdom, and was communicated to us at the Council-Board Yesterday by the Lord-Chancellor, viz.

That your Lordship should strike out one of your last Nominee-Aldermen, and add another Alderman to two of your Nominee-Aldermen, and thereupon we do proceed to an Election.

We to shew our Duty to Her Majesty, and chearful Compliance with whatever comes recommended from the best of Queens, do hereby declare, That if your Lordship will strike out any one of the Aldermen nominated by your Lordship at our last Meeting, (the Nomination-Paper of your Lordship's Hand-Writing being hereunto annext) and put in the stead of one of your Nominee-Aldermen any other Alderman who has not served in the Mayoralty, we will immediately proceed to an Election, and thereby prevent the Confusion and Inconveniences that may attend the not having new Magistrates to Morrow in this City: But if your Lordship shall, notwithstanding Her Majesty's gracious Interposition, act contrary thereto, by refusing to strike out one of your Nominee-Aldermen mentioned in your own Nomination-Paper at our last Assembly, and before Her Majesty's Royal Pleasure was known therein, we beg Leave to Protest against your Lordship's Proceeding therein, and to let your Lordship know that you only will be answerable for the Slight that will thereby be put upon Her Majesty's Recommendation, and for the fatal Consequences of leaving this City without Mayor or Sheriffs to Morrow, and at the same time we earnestly intreat your Lordship to take this our necessary Application into serious Consideration.

Before her Majesty's Pleasure was known in Relation to the present Dispute between the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, the Aldermen did the very thing Her Majesty was graciously pleased to propose as an Expedient, for afoon as the Lord-Mayor put Alderman Bolton in Nomination in the Place of Sir William Fownes one of his former Nominee-Aldermen, the Aldermen immediately concurred with the Lord-Mayor in electing Alderman Bolton Lord-Mayor for the ensuing Year, in hopes that Dispute would end there, no Objection being made to the fairness or validity of that Election.

Afterwards the Lords-Justices and Council were pleased to disapprove that Election.

The Lord-Mayor's Views being answered by the Disapprobation of Alderman Bolton, his Lordship was then pleased to Summon a Board of Aldermen, and to Nominate Alderman Constantine, Alderman Mason, and Alderman French, yet refused the Aldermen the Liberty of their just Objections to all or any of the said Nominees, and Dissolved the Assembly, declaring they must Elect one of his last-mentioned Nominees, and that he would give them no other Choice, which every Body knows in Effect was confining the Election to one of the two of the Lord-Mayor's first Nominee-Aldermen, Alderman French's great Deafness for several Years past rendring him wholly incapable to Officiate as Lord-Mayor who in Dublin cannot Act by Deputy, and who for his Deafness at the last Hearing before the Council-Board was refused by the Lord-Mayor's Council to be admitted an Evidence of Matters transacted in his View and Presence.

Matters thus continued till the Express arrived from Windsor.

On Michaelmas-Day, the Aldermen being Assembled, the Lord-Mayor instead of putting out one of the Aldermen mentioned in his last Nomination-Paper, offered to the Board the same three Nominee-Aldermen: The Board not being allow'd a Copy of the Paragraph in the Government's Letter relating to the Election of a Lord-Mayor, and apprehending the Lord-Mayor by that Paragraph was to put out one of his said Nominees, Disputes arose betwixt them as to the Import of Words of that Paragraph; then the Lord-Mayor in great warmth Dissolved the Assembly without permitting the Aldermen to proceed to any other Election than of one of the same Nominees formerly offered to and refused at the former Assembly of the Aldermen.

The Aldermen declare they are ready to proceed to an Election of a Lord-Mayor as Matters stood at the time Her Majesty was pleased to propose the Expedient, viz. that Sir William Fownes one of the first Nominees being laid aside, Alderman Bolton being put in his stead with the other two Nominees, he may be Elected Lord-Mayor; or they are willing to proceed to an Election as Matters stood at the time Her Majesty's Pleasure was signified to the Aldermen, viz. that the Lord-Mayor put out one of his Nominee-Aldermen that were last offered to the Board before the Arrival of the Express, and in his stead put in any one Alderman that has not served in the Mayoralty, which the Aldermen humbly conceive to be the Intent and Design of the Paragraph importing the Expedient proposed by Her Majesty. Nevertheless the Lord-Mayor refuses to comply with either of these Methods.
